Equipment worth $2000 was taken by thieves who looted a construction site at the Shell Chemical Co. plant at 190th St. and Vermont Ave., according to Los Angeles police.

Officers said the thieves apparently scaled a high fence sometime Thursday night or early Friday and removed the lock in a truck.

Construction equipment and surveyors' equipment comprised most of the loss.

NATO Nations Interested In U.S. Aircraft Research

Members of the NATO countries show "considerable interest" in research activities of the American aircraft companies, reports Jack Daniels, group leader of North American Aviation's wind tunnel group. A Torrance resident, Daniels lives at 5336 Sharynne Lane.

He presented a paper on his company's new trisonic wind tunnel at the sixth general assembly of the Advisory Group for Aeronautical Research and Development, held recently in Brussels, Belgium. The organization is a part of NATO.

Daniels says that previous meetings, which are sponsored by the U.S. Air Force, "have stimulated other NATO members to start more aeronautical research on their own by telling them what America is doing in the field."

On his first trip abroad, Daniels also managed to visit Paris and London and to attend the famous Farnborough Air Show in England before flying home to Torrance.

Lower Food Price Levels Told by Safeway Official

That consumers are receiving the benefit of lower food price levels was indicated this week by the Consumer Price Index issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Attention to these lower prices was pointed out by Mr. W. A. Christensen, division manager of Safeway Stores throughout Southern California.

Christensen stated that the BLS Index as released this week discloses all food prices had declined 1.5 per cent by mid-August from their seasonal peak in July. Foods consumed in homes dropped 1.8 per cent at retail stores.

Furthermore this latest BLS

Index is 41 per cent lower than the all-time peak in retail food prices reached in August, 1952—four years ago. During those four years, incomes have continued to rise, with weekly earnings in manufacturing plants, for example, up about 19 per cent. This means the average factory worker's paycheck now will buy about 24 per cent more food than in August, 1952, Mr. Christensen said.

"Anyone in our business knows," he explained, "that the food industry's modern methods and its competitive self-service retailers constantly press against rising food prices and help to translate our increased wages and higher consumer incomes into higher standards of eating."

Reports of "higher" food prices often distort the real situation when normal seasonal fluctuations are not discounted or emphasized, Christensen pointed out.
